Business Profile

Abercorn Business Sales has been appointed to offer for sale this premier provider of Carpentry and Joinery Services in London and the Home Counties, catering to a diverse clientele encompassing luxury and mid-range property developers, main contractors, and discerning private clients.

Their versatile offerings include custom-crafted joinery products such as elegant doorsets, stylish TV and media units, functional desks, ingenious shelving and storage solutions, luxurious bed surrounds, stunning timber staircases, sophisticated engineered and floating flooring, exquisite wall paneling, and inviting decking.

All of these are meticulously designed to accommodate a vast array of styles and finishes, ensuring exceptional results for every project.

Additionally, the company is a leading suppliers of timber fire-rated doors for the construction industry, offering a wide range of interior and exterior doors, including custom-made fire-rated doors.

Their extensive range of distinctive, well-manufactured doors meets both style and quality standards and is supplied with full certificates and warranty.

They are proud to manufacture the highest quality doors to specification, accredited by ISO9001 for the manufacture and installation of industrial doors and fire-rated doors.

The company designs, supplies and installs many types of standard and bespoke fire-certified doors, accredited to European and International standards, delivering unrivaled service to architects and the construction industry.

The manufacturing process combines computer-controlled precision with traditional craftsmanship and constant quality improvement.

Every component, including the door, frame, hinges, ironmongery, vision panels, and seals, is selected to ensure the door design is properly fire-resistant, and all components work in combination.

Well-designed timber fire doors act as effective fire barriers, delaying the spread of fire and smoke.

The company has experienced steady growth over the years and has the capability to take on jobs ranging in value and scope. They work closely with clients to help them complete their projects on time and on budget.
